Moore: Citizens must challenge wastewater law

BY LIZ HAAS
State Attorney General Mike Moore has placed the burden on Hancock County citizens to challenge the onsite wastewater disposal law and on the court to decide on its constitutionality.

Senate Bill 2562 makes it illegal for homeowners to discharge sewage wastewater off their properties and requires systems to be located certain minimum distances from dwellings, property lines, potable water sources and most waterways.

State Representative J.P. Compretta challenged the constitutionality of the 1992 bill, and requested the Attorney General's opinion. The law affects most of the southern part of Hancock County where the soil is saturated and most lots are too small to meet the requirements.

Compretta questioned if the bill and regulations by the health department cause an effectual 'taking' of the property, which requires the state to pay compensation to the owners. He asked if the state could avoid having to pay compensation if it provided exceptions to the requirements of the bill and health department regulations through legislation.

attorney general, states, "The constitutional validity of Senate Bill 2562 is presumed."

"It is unfair that the taxpayers and citizens of the county would have to incur the expense of filing a suit to test the constitutionality of the statute."
—Compretta

A letter of response from Samuel W. Keyes Jr., assistant

We are of the opinion that only a court of competent jurisdiction may determine if the provisions of the proposed Wastewater Disposal Law constitute a "taking" or otherwise fail to pass constitutional muster.

"I'm very disappointed in his opinion and hoped it would have given some guidance and relief to the people affected."

Alterations proposed for Blue Meadow Road

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Plans to add designated left and right turn lanes onto Main Street and Blue Meadow Road for approaching traffic to Highway 90 were approved for submission to the state highway department Tuesday.

The city plans to use existing right-of-way, along with acquisition of a two small amounts of property. One bit of property is a long triangular extension and at its greatest point stretches 10 feet into the Winn-Dixie parking area.

Mayor Eddie Favre said the plan is not unlike the Dunbar Avenue-Highway 90 scheme. He added the creation of alternating three-and-four-lane designations should alleviate much of the present congestion resulting from casino visitors. Plans include the construction of a separate right-hand turning lane boarding Coast Electric Company on Main Street, heading north and east. The existing north bound Main Street lane will divide as it crosses Highway 90 creating one forward traffic lane and one left turn lane.

As the north bound Main Street lane enters Blue Meadow Road, it will be met by a right turn access lane from the east bound turning traffic of Highway 90.

The two north bound lanes will continue along Blue Meadow, reconnecting as one lane immediately past the Blue Meadow Apartment complex. The two lanes will grant right turn access and forward movement for traffic for that distance.

Driving south from the apartment complex to Highway 90, a south bound turning lane will be added next to the forward

Plight of stray hound captures many hearts

Reclining on a soft pillow mixed with cedar chips, Fred rested his snout atop a paw and gazed out of a window on his Pass Christian domain.

Martin DeSalvo and Fred

In the next room sat the couple who intervened in this animal's otherwise doomed destiny.

"I want Fred's story told," the woman stated, "because he touched the lives of so many people in the community."

"The first time I saw Fred," Hancock County Library director Prima Plaque recalled, "was about a year ago."

"I was shopping at Winn-Dixie and he looked so sad and dejected. It was obvious he never had much contact with humans for he was very frightened of people."

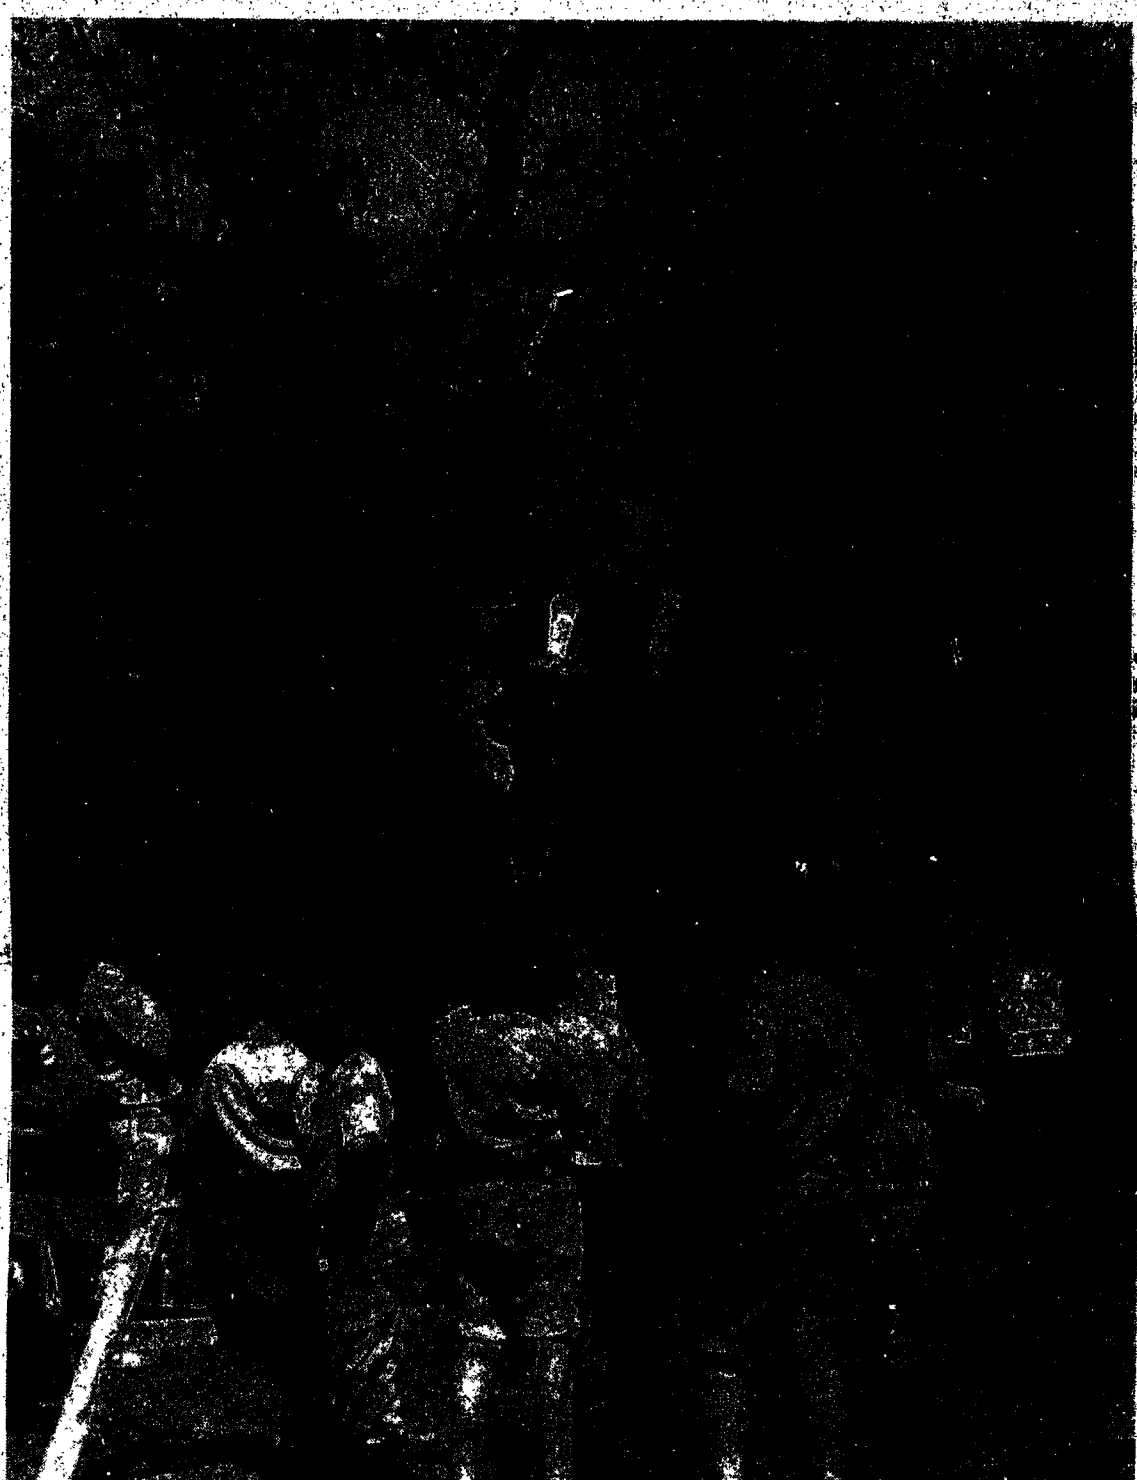

"For months I kept dry dog food in my car, leaving some for the animal whenever I saw him."

Plaque was not the only person to worry about Fred's eating habits.

Susan and Amby Daigre of Bookends Bookstore claimed to each carry a bag of dry dog food in their respective cars for months.

"I live near there," Daigre said, "and there was a spot near the woods where we had set out a bowl for food and one for

Ladner decision stirs waters

A recent decision by District 2 Circuit Court Judge James Thomas to reverse a Gaming Commission decision concerning permissible waters for gaming, may open bayous and rivers throughout Hancock and Harrison counties to gaming vessels.

The attorney general's office asked Thomas to reconsider his opinion, stating, if not, they would appeal to the state Supreme Court for a decision.

Bayou Caddy businessman Terry Ladner filed a suit against the state after being denied approval for a casino on Bayou Caddy.

Thomas ruled gaming regulations do "not prohibit the location of a gaming facility on a bayou emptying directly into the Mississippi Sound."

The attorney general's office issued an opinion in 1990 defining legal sites as those on the Sound, in the Bay of St. Louis, the Back Bay of Biloxi and Pas-water. "My husband and I would take turns, making sure the bowls were full."

Fred's present owner said there were also Winn-Dixie and Burger King employees, a young woman who worked at Auto Zone, a couple from Diamondhead, and others she would frequently observe leaving food in the area.

The dog's owner, who insists on anonymity, said she also felt compassion for the animal's plight after seeing him nearly a year ago.

She developed a routine, stopping every day at noon to leave some nourishment for Fred to discover.

"I thought if I came at the same time every day he would be waiting," she explained.

Last fall the husband of Fred's most ardent patron had a fence erected surrounding their home.

"I knew before this was over, the dog would be living here," he laughingly stated.

After Christmas the woman decided to call the county animal warden, who told her he had attempted to catch the animal several times with no success.

She called the Waveland Animal Shelter, which sent a female dog in heat to attract Fred. But again, no luck.

New Year's Day Fred's present owner called Thyla Rogers of the Hancock County Humane Society. Together they obtained a mild tranquilizer from a local veterinarian, mixed the drug into his food and waited.

Fred appeared, ate heartily and disappeared into the woods. Several hours later he reappeared, well rested, and waited for course two to be served.

Mrs. Patron was beside herself. Her worry for the animal increased during the holiday season as traffic on Blue Meadow Road was heavy with cast-no visitors.

Rogers had signs made asking drivers to slow down as a Humane Society rescue was underway. The signs were torn down and left lying on the ground.

Finally, Mr. Patron had enough.

"I called Martin (DeSalvo) and told him I wanted my wife back home," he stated.

DeSalvo, who trains dogs primarily for security, assured him he would have the animal caught by noon.

THE HUNT

While sitting on the floor stroking Fred gently, DeSalvo relayed the details of his four-day ordeal in the woods tracking the elusive hound.

"When I started out, I thought, 'This will be easy...'"

The first thing DeSalvo did was track the dog through the woods. "I would find his spots and disturb them, knowing he would smell that I had been there. I wanted to tire him down by keeping him moving."

He soon discovered Fred was still receiving nourishment from his loyal following of food suppliers. The next step was to spread the word to stop all feedings.

DeSalvo described several traps he set. One was a 6'x6' hole he and his sons spent hours digging and covering with branches and leaves. After baiting the trap with meat and waiting for some time, Fred appeared.

"He approached the area very carefully," the hunter commented. "He smelled for the meat, looked at it and—lifted his leg...and left."

Another trap involved long hours of waiting under a house which had been blocked with boards on all sides.

DeSalvo lay hidden, ready to slide the entrance shut after the dog went in to retrieve some food set as bait.

"He stuck half his body under the house, reaching for the food, when here comes Little Red Riding Hood (Fred's present owner), calling, 'Martin, I have your lunch. Off went Fred.'"

DeSalvo said he literally stayed four days in the woods, tracking and setting traps.

He said his family told him he would never catch the dog, but DeSalvo said the job by then had become much more than a challenge.

"I knew I was smarter than him (Fred), and he was making me mad."

Finally, DeSalvo laid the trap of traps.

He dug a trench into a dirt road, filled it with water and parked his truck over the trench.

Tying a female dog inside his truck, he rigged a rope to the open door. Lying down in the trench, he began the wait.

Around 11 p.m. Fred appeared, only to bark at the truck and its contents and leave.

Several times Fred returned, each time coming a little closer to the open door. He placed one paw, then the next time two paws.

All the while, DeSalvo waited.

"I would get up to stretch when he would go off, but then I was back in the water," he stated.

"Finally, around 1 a.m. he returned to look things over and as he moved closer to the truck, I saw the one paw go up, then another paw...I was silently screaming, 'Hail Mary...get in!' When he placed his third paw up into the truck, I slammed the door closed."

THE CURE

DeSalvo said there are two kinds of dogs, biters and non-biters.

That morning he had to discover which kind Fred was. "I slowly opened the door to the truck and got in, pushing Fred over. He just sat there looking at me."

DeSalvo brought the dog home and after several days of adjustment, he took the animal to the home of his new owners.

Fred was taken to a veterinarian where treatments for hook and heartworms were begun.

Today Fred is well, gaining 15 pounds since his rescue.

Unknowningly, he has touched the hearts of many people. Though the names are not all known, each person who stopped to offer a bit of food, or extend a hand in kindness, is a part of Fred's story of survival.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM EDDIE FAVRE

Don't be misled . . .

The rumors are flying again!

LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT

RUMOR:

FACT:

COMMENT:

There is a gaming development planned for downtown Bay St. Louis.

I know of no planned gaming development to be placed in or near downtown Bay St. Louis.

The issue of downtown dockside gaming has been hotly debated for more than two years. Whether or not this issue ever comes about, it is an issue that is addressed by state law... not an issue determined by the Bay St. Louis Mayor's Office. It should be stated, however, that any attempts, on the part of the City, to prohibit downtown development will undoubtedly result in lawsuits against our city. The City of Gulfport realized this during its discussions of whether or not to allow dockside gaming in its small craft harbor (based on the Attorney General's opinion dated August 27, 1992).

Bay St. Louis city officials can guarantee a development or guarantee no development in or near downtown Bay St. Louis.

Not possible!

RUMOR:

FACT:

COMMENT:

In order for someone or some group to develop the Bay St. Louis downtown waterfront for any development, the interested parties must meet and satisfy all the criteria set forth by the many federal, state and local agencies, including, but not limited to:

- U.S. Corps of Engineers
- Bureau of Marine Resources
- Department of Archives and History
- Impact on city's properties listed on the National Register of Historic Places
- Mississippi State Gaming Commission
- Licensing procedures, proximity to schools, churches, suitability, etc.
- Secretary of State
- Bottomland leases

If a developer were able to satisfy all the requirements placed before him, then the City of Bay St. Louis would devote special care and attention to a developer's impact on the area. The City then would address the matter from the standpoints of code compliance, traffic, parking, evacuation, site plan review, impact on nearby small business, historical landmarks, nearby neighborhoods and many other aspects.

THE CITIZENS OF BAY ST. LOUIS SHOULD NOT BE MISLED BY CANDIDATES PLEDGING SUPPORT FOR OR AGAINST BEACHFRONT DEVELOPMENT. QUITE FRANKLY, A CANDIDATE'S SUPPORT OR OPPOSITION WILL HAVE LITTLE OR NO EFFECT ON THE ISSUE.

LET'S GET BACK TO THE REAL ISSUE OF WHO IS THE RIGHT CHOICE FOR THE MAYOR'S JOB IN BAY ST. LOUIS.

REMEMBER,

PROMISES COME EASY . . .

this area of the county," said Compretta.

Compretta said the opinion, in essence states the burden is on a citizen to file suit to challenge the statute.

"In my opinion, it is unfair that the taxpayers and citizens of the county would have to incur the expense of filing a suit to test the constitutionality of the statute," said Compretta.

When property is sold, the lender generally will require an acceptable wastewater disposal system on the property; so, the lender will require the purchaser to obtain health department approval of the disposal system before lending money for purchase of the property.

"The requirements imposed by the bill and the health department regulations deny the affected property owners all economically beneficial use of their land. Because of this, the bill and regulations cause an effectual 'taking' of their property that requires the state of Mississippi to pay them 'just compensation' as provided under the fifth and fourteenth amendments to the U.S. Constitution," Compretta contends.

He said, "As a result of this opinion, it is incumbent upon the board of supervisors to expedite obtaining funds to have central sewage provided to these areas of the county. This should definitely be a priority item."

Compretta said he will be doing everything possible to assist in obtaining any state funds available for these projects.

He said the Community Development Block Grants, of which the board applied for a $400,000 grant, are being awarded in April and May.

The board recently approved plans for sewer line extension design work into Clermont Harbor.

I keep hearing comments about the 'one-eyed' vehicles on our highways from subscribers. I am told how many they count from one point to another.

At night, while at the walking track in front of Hancock Medical Center, I usually see two or three whenever I walk at night.

One of the old games for youngsters while traveling was to count how many out-of-state licence plates they saw.

That game has been changed in Hancock County for the kids (and some adults, too) to counting the number of vehicles at night with only one operating headlight.

I do know that one Hancock deputy sheriff has already written 85 citations on highways 603 and 43 for 'one-eyed' monsters.

The 'one-eyed' vehicle syndrome is an epidemic situation in Hancock County.

Probably every state trooper, deputy and policeman in Hancock County could write 85 citations each within a month, and we would still have some 'one-eyed' monsters running about.

Who knows, maybe more officers will see the 'one-eyed' monsters, too.

The beautiful days of sunshine have been a sure welcome.

It has been a long time since we have had several good days in a row, so it is something to really celebrate.

Power mowers and weed eaters have been buzzing, roto-tillers tilling and shovels shoveling. These are all sure signs of warm weather activities.

We are still trying to get our ground ready to plant, but every time the ground is about ready, down comes a shower.

The ground was drying out, and Tuesday night the showers came once again.

Who knows, maybe we will have four or five days in a row without a shower.

As most of you know, May 4 is the Democratic Primary election day for the qualified electors of the City of Bay St. Louis.

Since there are not Republican or Independent candidates, those elected are to lead Bay St. Louis for the next four years. If run-offs are necessary, they will be held on May 18.

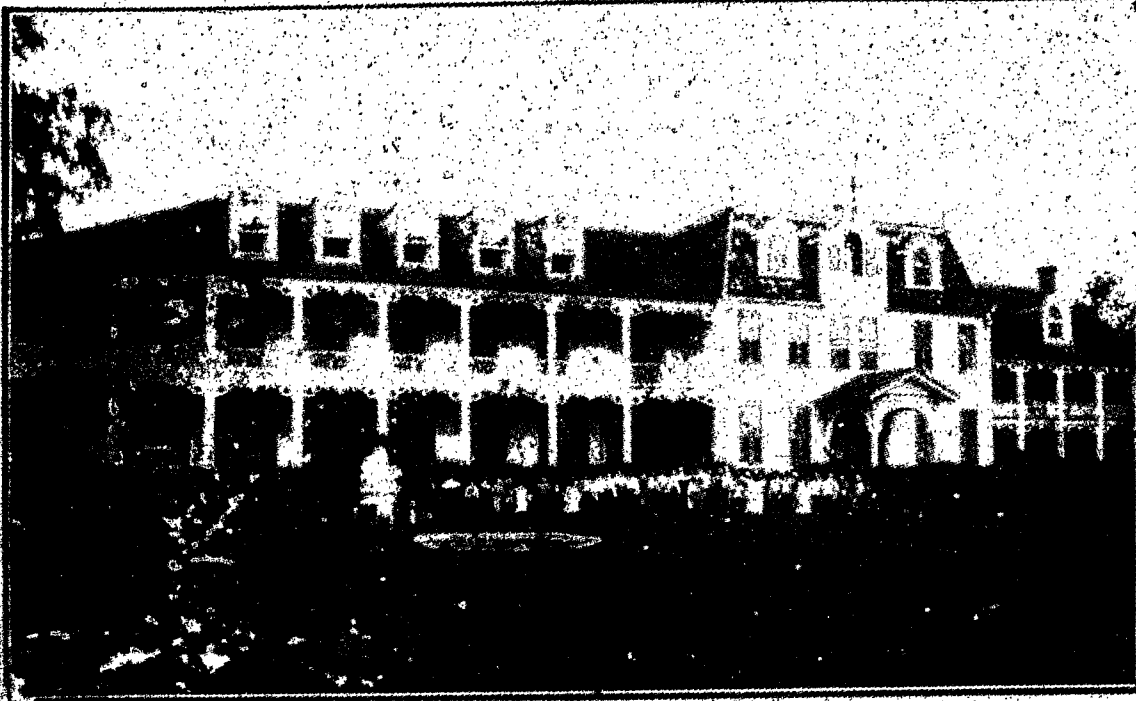

On Friday, from 5 to 7 p.m. the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 will be sponsoring a 'Candidate Night' at the post's home on Green Meadow Road.

Questions have been gathered about the community to be presented to the candidates, and this would be a good time to hear what those running for office have to say about vital issues.

Seating is limited. For registration, call Legion chairman Gene Schloegel at 467-6772.

The forum is scheduled to be broadcast on WBSL from 5 to 7 p.m.

The American Legion is hosting the program as a public service and does not support, oppose or provide aid to any candidate for public office or to any political party.

Opening day ceremonies were enjoyed by many

Dear Editor,

For the past three years, my family and I have attended the opening day ceremonies of the Bay St. Louis Little League Girls Softball at McDonald Field.

This past Saturday, April 17, was without a doubt the finest. We stayed all day — as did many others, and the entire day was an enjoyable experience for adults and children alike.

The crowd was estimated at about 300. We were impressed with the well-behaved girls on the teams, the coaches and the park staff. And as far as food, it was great. They made sure plates were loaded. For the price it couldn't be beat.

We are looking forward to the season. With or without children, the public should try to attend the games whenever possible. They will not be disappointed. We would like to commend everyone involved for a very enjoyable and well-planned event.

Sincerely,

Judy Moran and family

Free insecticide offered to needy dog owners

Dear Editor,

Flea and tick infestation on our dogs in Hancock County has begun and is getting worse.

Port Doge Laboratories of Iowa has donated more than 200 units of a foam control insecticide for dogs only.

The truly needy pet owners of Hancock County may pick up a free can of this foam at our Flea Market on Hwy. 90.

If you are not needy, a donation for the insecticide would be appreciated.

House passes preventive telemarketing fraud bill

If you are tired of fraudulent, abusive and deceptive telemarketing phone calls invading your privacy while you relax at home, help may soon be on the way.

The House overwhelmingly approved legislation that would, if passed by the Senate and approved by the President, protect consumers from telephone marketing abuses. All of us are aware of the deceptive telemarketing schemes that offer bogus credit cards, jobs and the chance to purchase phony gemstones to unsuspecting victims.

In the past year, many South Mississippians have contacted me to voice their opposition to such practices. If this measure becomes law, as expected, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) would be given the authority to make interstate telemarketing criminals pay for their dishonest deeds.

The FTC is the lead federal regulatory agency in dealing with unfair or deceptive acts or practices which affect general commerce. However, under current law, the FTC has no regulations concerning telemarketing.

The bill would require the FTC, within nine months of enactment, to issue rules which would prohibit deceptive telemarketing schemes. Also, no longer would consumers be subjected to a broken record each time they call to inquire as to the whereabouts of their purchase: "Don't worry, the package is in the mail."

The measure would require telemarketers to refund consumers for services or goods that are not provided to consumers within a specified amount of time.

The bill also permits persons who are adversely affected by any telemarketing scam that violates FTC telemarketing rules to bring civil actions in federal court. Under the measure, such actions may be taken by any affected individual, partnership, or corporation.

Furthermore, a clearinghouse would be established to provide information on telemarketers to the public and federal agencies.

Obviously, I am pleased to see this bill making its way through the legislative process. In the past few years, similar bills have been authored. Unfortunately, however, they have failed to gain the support needed to become law.

Much like many South Mississippians, I am offended by telemarketing fraud and plan to take every step possible to eliminate abusive telephone marketers.

What's in a name?

Growing up, I remember hearing the saying that "a rose is a rose, is a rose, is a rose." Nowadays, it's hard to tell if a rose is really a rose.

Take the president's latest legislation, for instance. I've heard it called a jobs bill. I've heard it called an economic stimulus package. Technically, it is known as an "emergency" supplemental appropriations act. None of these fit by my standards.

The so-called Clinton emergency/economic stimulus/jobs bill isn't a true jobs bill because it does not create permanent jobs. It isn't a stimulus bill because it will not stimulate the economy. And, it should not be an "emergency" because it does not pay for any emergencies.

What is does do is raise the deficit and increase federal spending. It doesn't focus on cutting spending first, and ultimately the burden of paying for it will be borne by our children.

Jobs bill? Not hardly.

According to OMB Director Leon Panetta's own estimate, this bill will provide only 219,000 jobs in 1993. That's an average per job cost of $89,041 — a high price for American taxpayers to pay. It will provide only 108,000 temporary jobs for adults during the next 12 months. Compare that to the 365,000 jobs created by the private sector last March alone. That comparison shows that this isn't much of a job creator.

If this bill did pass and if each state got its fair share of the jobs included in the package, then Mississippi would only receive summer jobs for less than one-half of one percent for eligible youth.

Economic stimulant? Not even close.

My idea of stimulating the economy is not spending more than $16 billion for frivolous projects such as building a $500,000 golf course, a $4.5 million gymnasium and a $4 million parking garage, or purchasing a $148 million computer for the IRS.

Emergency? Absolutely not. One of the major flaws with this bill is that all of the spending is declared "emergency" under the 1990 Budget Enforcement Act. This means that it is not paid for and would be added directly to the federal deficit.

Also, if it's an emergency then why does 60 percent of the bill's spending occur next year and not now? I know an emergency when I see one — a hurricane, a tornado, a flood — this is no emergency.

The bill does have some things that I would like to support, but they should be paid for by cutting other spending and not increasing the deficit. Government should set priorities and live within its means.

This is not a partisan attack or an attempt to embarrass the president — it's about principle. I oppose this bill for many of the same reasons that I opposed the 1990 Budget Agreement between Congress and President Bush — it's a bad and fiscally irresponsible bill.

So, what's in a name? Well, I guess one person's rose is another person's thorn.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

M/EIC

The government they deserve

The polls are closed, the ballots are counted and the results are public. And, the results in 20 Mississippi counties reveal the desire of the people to maintain an efficient and accountable government.

On Election Day, 22 counties carried a referendum on the county unit system, providing voters the opportunity to vote on the issue three years ahead of the legislatively mandated date. As it turns out, this was a good time to test the unit system, as heavy voter turnout helped to provide an accurate gauge of the popularity of the system.

A vote of confidence was given last week, a vote which said that the taxpayers want a county government that is responsible, well-run and accountable for its actions.

The vote was given amid a flurry of advertising and politicking from both sides of the issue, but in the end the people in 20 of 22 counties made the decision against a 19th century form of government, and for a system which suits their needs and the needs of the counties as the 21st century draws near.

It is almost certain that we haven't heard the last of the beat system proponents. Petitions will circulate again during the 1995 elections, and the same arguments will be made both for and against the unit system. But let's hope not.

In a time when the role of supervisor extends far beyond road maintenance, Mississippians deserve a government that supports that expanded role. On November 3, voters in 20 counties got what they deserved. They will benefit from their choice.

Do you think the FBI handled the Waco situation properly?

Their "field of dreams" became a reality thanks to the more than 50 sponsors whose signs made up the backfield.

The teamwork and effort that brought about this program is wonderful for the youth of Diamondhead.

Much appreciation goes to the sponsors, volunteers, moms who made the "signs" until 3 a.m. the night before, dads who coach and help, moms and friends for the homemade cookies, decorations, etc., Don Raby of Don's House of Seafood on 603 in the Kiln for his marvelous jambalaya and salad, to Diamondhead Supermarket for the bread, etc., to John Smart and the Diamondhead Community Association for their generous donation, and to Dick Alves and his Karaoke group for the super entertainment throughout the afternoon, which included lovely Leila Gargou's performance of the National Anthem.

This organization is needed in the Diamondhead community and a mere $10 a year provides our youth with something to do for those long summer days.

To join, send a check to Ken Talley, president of DYU at 443 Yacht Club Drive, Suite 109, Diamondhead, MS 39525. Their meetings are on the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center.

Secret's in the sauce at Nereids spaghetti dinner

Special to the Echo

In the world of spaghetti and sauce, the names of Harold Hitt, Chuck Breath and John Hansell are legend. For five years, the three celebrated chefs have been the success behind the scenes of the annual Nereids Italian Feast, this year to be held on April 25.

In fact, the event has been so successful that this year it will move to larger quarters at the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road.

Both Breath and Hansell credit "Harold's Secret Recipe" for the accolades they have received. Although Hitt won't reveal all his ingredients, he does describe his technique as a blend of the Italian influence of his Trapani mother-in-law with his love of Cajun cooking.

Preparations begin the day before the dinner, which is open to the public. The actual cooking — 12 hours of chopping, sauteeing and simmering — takes place on the back porch of Breath's home.

Breath describes the porch as originally a veranda which led to a kitchen in a separate building behind the 1837 home.

"Perhaps, the many ghosts of chefs past are what really explain the success of our sauce," he suggests.

The three men volunteer their time and talents to help Nereids raise funds for the krewe's annual ball and parade.

"You can't beat this $5 dinner because it also features fabulous homemade desserts," adds Hansell. "If you enjoy the floats created each year by the krewe members, you will enjoy the desserts they create even more."

The Nereids Italian Feast, featuring a spaghetti dinner with a garden salad, green beans almonidine, garlic bread, tea and dessert, will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sunday, April 25. The public is invited to dine in, take out, or call for free delivery.

Tickets for $5 may be purchased in advance from members of Nereids or at the Waveland Drug Store.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Nostalgia for days gone by, with their good food, good times and good places; so goes the common — or not so common, more out of the ordinary — theme of four highly personalized cookbooks I've recently enjoyed reading. And, I've been "cooking up" some of the recipes, already, the ones which most strike my culinary interest. And, there are many of them!

The first of these books is "Sun, Sand and Sausage Pie" and Beach House Memories, by Sally Holbrook (Hard Cover, concealing spiral binding, Sabill Press, Pasadena, Ca. $19.95). The beach house of the author's memories and recipes is on California's coast, but strikes a happy chord with us here on our Gulf Coast, as well as with those in cities and towns of adjacent areas, who enjoy our shores at least part of the time.

Reminiscences of happy, carefree times at the beach, interwoven with more than 100 easy-to-follow recipes, are heightened by period photographs of seashore activities. A tasty recipe, the one from which the book draws at least part of its name, is:

SAUSAGE PIE

1 cup white rice, uncooked
1 pkg. frozen corn, thawed
1/2 green pepper, diced
1/2 red sweet pepper, diced
1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
4 to 5 medium tomatoes, peeled and diced
1 cup (4 oz.) sharp Cheddar cheese, diced
1 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce.

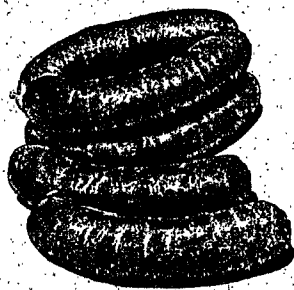

Jones link sausage, 3 to 4 per person
1 cup buttered bread crumbs, approximately

Cook the rice, according to directions. Saute peppers in oil for approximately 3 minutes.

Add to rice along with corn, tomatoes, cheese and Worcestershire, mixing well. Place in shallow casserole, and top with buttered bread crumbs.

Bake sausages on rack in oven till lightly browned. Place on top of casserole. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes. (6 to 8 servings)

I couldn't find Jones sausages, so used link sausages from our markets, with tasty results.

The second book, "Recipes and Rhymes of Late Victorian Times," boasts a collection of turn-of-the-century photographs, along with whimsical details of life "way back when." The 100-plus recipes are interspersed with nostalgic poems. Done in calligraphy, the soft-cover book is published by Buckle Publishing Co., Kenosha, Wisconsin ($15.95) and holds a mirror to life in Wisconsin as seen through the eyes and experienced through the taste buds of its lively nonagenarian author, Mildred "H" McCutcheon.

"This was a time of unlocked doors and aproned neighbors" the author comments, "when days were hallmarked by chores, and meals were labors of love." Another observation: "In 1990 a soup bone with enough meat on it to make a substantial kettle of soup was bought for 10 cents. My, how times have changed!"

With prints of watercolors of wild flowers, calligraphy, and reminiscences, the third book is "Grandmother's Cookbook" by Elizabeth Rose von Hohen, who grew up on a farm in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Her granddaughter, Carrie Gamble, published the book as a tribute to her grandmother. The 100-page paperback book is published by Carrie Gamble Inc., Doylestown, Pa. and priced at $14.95.

Elizabeth von Hohen's own grandmother, of Hungarian heritage, inspired the chapter on dumplings and noodles. The book is a unique blend of Old World recipes with New World recipes and ideas.

And, last but far from least, is "The Taste of Time" celebrating 150 years of good cooking by five generations of the Hodges family, with a member of the fifth generation, Judy Loughrin, as author.

"The seeds of many of the recipes started in South East Michigan in 1842 with the opening of the Hodges House, which soon became known as the 'finest Inn west of New York City,'" according to the author. "It was open for more than 50 years; and the building still stands, although no longer a stop for travelers with sophisticated palates."

Published by Lucky Canyon Publishing Company, Santa Ynez, Ca., "The Taste of Time" is soft-cover, with spiral binding, and sells for $19.95.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Somebody said one time that the March winds are the harbingers (75-cent word) of the season to come, that March winds clear up the air and make everything more better for the summertime.

Maybe that same someone should explain to Mother Nature that March winds are supposed to occur during the month of March. For crying out loud — this is the end of the month of April already. It must be time for the March winds to stop or at least die down somewhat.

The wind has kept the fishin' conditions really unsettled over the past weeks. On a "calm" day the waves in the sound have only been about 30 feet high. At least the waves seem that high when you are in a small boat.

They say that when you plow a field, the process is very beneficial to the earth. The reason for this is that plowing gives the soil air to breathe and homogenizes (50-cent word) the soil so that all living things have a better chance to grow. If that is a true statement, then we are gonna have the most productive fishing season in history, "cause the sound is really plowed up.

A couple of bright spots are starting to show on the horizon that indicate that things should start to improve real soon like.

First of all, that light at the end of the tunnel is not the headlight of a freight train that is coming to run us all over. To emphasize this point, I received word that the Pearl River is now at 19.2 feet and falling.

It is within its banks up around Honey Island Swamp and if we have finished with the monsoon season up around Jackson, the Pearl should continue to drop and the sound will clear up post haste.

Junior Dawn got a tantalizing glimpse of the great fishin' to come this past week. Junior left out of LaFrance and fished the Herron Bay area. He got into the reds just about everywhere that he stopped. He had a ball with the reds using dead shrimp to "sweeten up" his plastic cacahoes.

Junior did manage to fill out his limit, after a time, but he caught a whole big bunch of smaller reds before he caught enough "keeper" size reds to bring home.

A word of caution: There are gill nets all over Herron Bay so be alert where you are driving your boat.

The number one fishin' spot this past week was, without a doubt, Grand Pass in the Louisiana Marsh. The report that came in from LaFrance had Mike bubbling over with excitement. He said, "Man it was incredible, unbelievable, you can't believe the number of reds that are out there." (Mike has been getting corrupted. You can tell that by all of the 50-cent words he is starting to use).

I guess he meant that if you got to the Grand Pass area you stand a better than even chance

March winds cause less than desirable fishing conditions of catching at least one red fish. Alright, how to you get to Grand Pass, turtle?

Well, to start with you need a boat. Unless of course you feel like swimming about 14 miles. If you do, I am certain that the America Olympic Committee would like to speak with you.

If you don't intend to swim to Grand Pass and you intend to go by boat, and launch out of LaFrance's Fish Camp, you might wanna set your compass on a heading of 101 degrees from Lighthouse Point. This is the point off the southern tip of Herron Bay. There are concrete blocks and pilings in this area.

From Lighthouse Point to Grand Pass is about 12 to 13 miles. If you want to use another compass heading that's alright too, as long as you know how to speak Spanish. Before I forget, you might wanna write down that it is a compass heading of 281 to get back to Light House Point from Grand Pass. When you get about half way you will notice that there is an old white conservation camp on Grand Pass that you can see from a long way off. It is helpful to sight on the camp just to make sure that your compass is really working.

Once you get to Grand Pass, go through the pass and about a mile or so on a compass heading of 132, you will notice that there is a shell bank and some small shell keys. These are the ones that have been producing nice reds and some monster trout.

Don't take chances and make sure you file a float plan if you plan to go out here.

This week's wonderful wise words: There ain't no mechanics or gas station on Grand Pass.

It's not nice to mess with Mother Nature, turtle.

Oyster season still open; licenses expire April 30

Bureau of Marine Resource officials will recommend to the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks at its April 27 meeting that the Mississippi oyster season close at 4 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 1993.

This is about two weeks beyond the traditional closing date of April 30.

Oyster licenses, however, will expire April 30, and fishermen wishing to oyster during the extended season must buy new licenses. Oystermen are encouraged to purchase the new license prior to April 30.

Licenses will be available at the BMR's Edgewater Office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be valid through the 1993-94 oyster season until April 30, 1994.

A resident commercial oyster-tonging license costs $50 per vessel. A resident commercial oyster-dredging license costs $100 per vessel. A resident recreational oyster license costs $10 per individual.

The reason for extending the season, said John Cirino, Bureau of Marine Resources shellfish program coordinator, is because many sacks of harvestable oysters will remain on reefs after April 30.

"The extended harvest effort will help break up clustered oysters into single oysters. This will help produce more marketable oysters next season," Cirino said. "Mississippi oystermen and processors have had a problem marketing Mississippi oysters because they are badly clustered."

Any or all reefs may be closed at any time because of excessive rainfall for public health reasons.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

◆ STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

◆ BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

◆ SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

◆ THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

◆ BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

◆ ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

She was a four-year starter for the Lady Eagles at the University of Southern Mississippi and spent two seasons as the assistant coach at Southwest Texas State University.

In 1986 she was an assistant coach for the Lady Eagles.

She and her husband, Dennis, who is a counselor at Northwest Mississippi Junior College, have a two-year-old daughter, Whitney.

Favre, a 1987 graduate of Hancock North Central, is the quarterback for the Green Bay Packers.

Favre's high school football jersey, number 10, was retired.

FROM NOW UNTIL JUNE 15, SUNBURST BANK HAS A RIDICULOUSLY GOOD DEAL FOR BOTH OF US.

HERE'S THE DEAL.

Apply for a Sunburst Home Equity Loan or Line of Credit between now and June 15th, and we'll apply up to a $450 credit against your closing costs.

In most cases, this will make the closing costs a nice, round number — namely, zero. Ask us for complete details.

HERE'S WHAT'S IN IT FOR YOU.

With a Sunburst Home Equity Loan or Line of Credit, the interest you pay may be tax-deductible, just like the interest on your mortgage. Your tax advisor can fill you in on all the details.

Right now, interest rates are extremely low, making it a very opportune time to borrow or establish a low rate on a line of credit.

What's more, you can spend the money on anything you wish. You can fix up the house, buy a new car, pay tuition for the kids, or even do something extremely sensible (like paying off old debts with higher interest rates). After all, it's your money.

HERE'S WHAT'S IN IT FOR US.

You pay us interest (extremely low interest).

We make money.

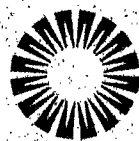

We're happy.

TIMING IS EVERYTHING ON THIS DEAL.

A Sunburst Home Equity Loan or Line of Credit is a good deal any day of the year, but it's an even better deal between now and June 15th (Don't forget our offer to apply up to a $450 credit against your closing costs).

So now is definitely the time to act.

To get the ball rolling, simply stop by your nearest Sunburst Bank and talk to one of our loan officers, or call us toll-free at 1-800-844-SUN-B and we'll send you complete information and an application.

Consult a tax advisor about tax deductibility. Property insurance is required. The borrower is responsible for any additional amount which may not be covered by the $450.00 credit. To receive the credit, you must be approved for and draw a minimum line of $10,000. On Home Equity Lines, your interest rate is variable and is based on an index. The index is the highest prime rate published in the Wall Street Journal's "Money Rates." Your interest is 1.5% above this index. Steps to fitness

Loiacano introduces aerobic video

BY LIZ HAAS

Bay native Andrea Loiacano introduced her first aerobic video, "Body and Step," a circuit training workout, in December 1992, with an initial sale of 100 tapes.

"This is something I've wanted to do for about three years," she said. "Some clients have been asking me to do it and visitors from out of town sometimes ask if I have a video, so I finally decided to do it."

The video, 45 minutes of stepping, takes you through beginning intermediate and advanced workouts and is a low impact, safe, step aerobic workout.

The video uses steps and hand-held weights and is a cardio-vascular workout to build endurance and strength and burn fat, tone and firm.

Mike Filipe, a WLOX-Channel 13 cameraman, filmed the video in October.

"Nike paid for the apparel and shoes and Casino Magic sponsored the video and let us film out there," said Loiacano.

Part of the workout was filmed inside the casino and the rest was done outside.

"Anyone can do this workout and pick up the moves."

"It's a cardio-vascular workout with stepping, and the good thing about it is that it is a total body workout that hits everything in 45 minutes," she said.

Loiacano's Health Club instructors in the video are Angela Wilcox and Bebe Torrence. Helene Loiacano, also participates in the video.

Loiacano has been an aerobics instructor for the past 8 years and is certified by the American Council on Exercise and the Aerobics, Fitness Foundation of America.

"Any fitness level can come in here and take our classes. We have classes for everyone," she said.

Loiacano is the daughter of J.E. and Coco Loiacano, who own the health club.

She is a 1989 graduate of William Carey College where she received a bachelor of fine arts degree and instructed the soccer team in aerobics.

She was graduated from Bay Senior High School in 1985.

Tigers overwhelmed by Vancleave, 10-0

The Bay High Tigers felt the sting of defeat Tuesday, losing to Vancleave 10-0 in Division 8, 3-A play.

Vancleave's Michael Williams struck out eight of the Tigers' first nine batters, until Wali Shabazz led off in the fourth with a single inside the third base.

At the top of the sixth inning, the Tigers made their best bid when trailing 7-0 when Shabazz and Gerritt Carver hit back-to-back singles on one-out.

Jimmy Strong, the Tigers' leading hitter, set a fly ball to the right for the second out, and Jeff Hoppood sent the ball off Williams' arm and to Jeremy Miller for a toss to Michael Barton and a forced-out at second.

Vancleave now retains its first place standing, while Bay High (6-8 overall, 4-3 division) moves away from its previous front runner status.

Rocks overpower St. Martin

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws crushed the St. Martin Yellow Jackets in a 16-1 slugfest Tuesday.

SSC's John Bishop scored a homer bringing two runners ahead of him, had five RBI's for the game and went three for five for the evening.

Rock-A-Chaw Bryce Gex added to his current 15-hit streak with two more in the ninth inning.

Carlos Sheridan was the winning Rock-A-Chaw pitcher. St. Stanislaus is 5-10 for the season and 4-6 in division.

Among the items recovered were four chairs and lamps, liquor signs, a table, a mirror, glassware, a coffee carafe and other items.

Days Inn general manager Scarla Wiley said Simpson was released from employment with the company by owner George Gibalski on March 28. She had been employed since 1990.

She commented that for some time Simpson was suspected of mishandling motel funds.

Wiley stated the arrest of Simpson has not affected business at the motel, and operations are proceeding as usual.

Peterson said Wiley was incarcerated on a $20,000 bond but has since been released.

Along with Simpson, James D. Doss, 34, of the same address, was arrested for possession of stolen property and simple possession of marijuana.

Doss was released on a $5,000 bond.

Detective Matt Karl remains in charge of the investigation.

The SAT face-off

C.B. Murphy students prepare for comprehensive testing by recognizing foes

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

C.B. Murphy Elementary school in Pearlman staged a most unusual pep rally Monday, in which comprehensive testing fears were literally 'knocked out.'

"We are here for a pep rally," principal Clementine "Tina" Williams told the students in the school gymnasium.

"Before going to a big athletic contest, like a football game," she explained, "students usually meet for a pep rally, where everyone gets excited and acquires positive thinking."

"Well, tomorrow the first through sixth grade students will take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), and this is a 'test buster' pep rally. During the rally the students will be offered advice on how to prepare, how to relax and how to control the stress many will experience."

The pep rally had cheerleaders, as any energetic event should, and included a four-part skit: 'The angry stomach,' 'Attack of the stress monster,' 'Rocky vs. the test' and 'The test can really be your friend.'

During 'The angry stomach,' two students meet before school and discuss preparations for the day's testing—a good night's sleep and a nourishing breakfast.

"No, I'm not hungry," the other student declares, pushing a breakfast tray away.

While in the pretend classroom the stubborn young man's stomach begins to growl like a lion, disturbing the concentration of his fellow students, while the audience laughed with amusement.

'Attack of the stress monster' depicts one young lady at her desk hurriedly searching for a pencil.

She remarks how she "just knows" she will not do well on this test for she never does.

Two young men dressed in lab coats, depicting scientists, interjected commentary on how to handle stress and nervousness.

"Slow down and relax...take some deep breaths...close your eyes and think of something happy...take a moment to get ready for the test."

The scientists questioned the audience on their ability to recognize stress, comparing it to a creeping monster.

Suddenly an eerie, foreboding sound blared, and out came the stress monster. Again the audience erupted in giggles.

The student now using the techniques of relaxation, sent the stress monster furiously away.

Part three was called 'Rocky vs. the test.' Here a teacher is dressed as a boxer and sits upon the edge of what appeared to represent a boxing ring.

Williams, the trainer, as the signs upon her chest and back told us, stood behind the boxer rubbing her shoulders.

"Gee, Coach, I don't know if I can beat this SAT test," the boxer stated.

"Don't think that way, or it will beat you before you begin," the Coach answered. "This test will have some difficult parts, but some of it will seem easy to you, too."

Little by little, the boxer began to feel confident. Encouraged by the reinforcing chants of the cheerleaders and audience, out comes SAT itself, and 'boom,' the boxer takes it out in the first round.

The students cheered the boxer's victory, and together they repeated, "I can do it, I can do it, I can beat the test!"

Part four paired a young student in conversation with a black-eyed SAT test.

Eloise Smith (SAT test) and Betty Foster (boxer)

The test asked that they not fight anymore, claiming to be the student's friend.

"You need me! I will show your teacher how to help you do better next year."

The test gave advice: "No one will know all the answers...there may be several things that seem new; don't waste too much time on one question...give your best guess and move ahead; don't work too fast or too slow. Work at middle speed...if you finish early...go over the questions again; do your best...and never give up."

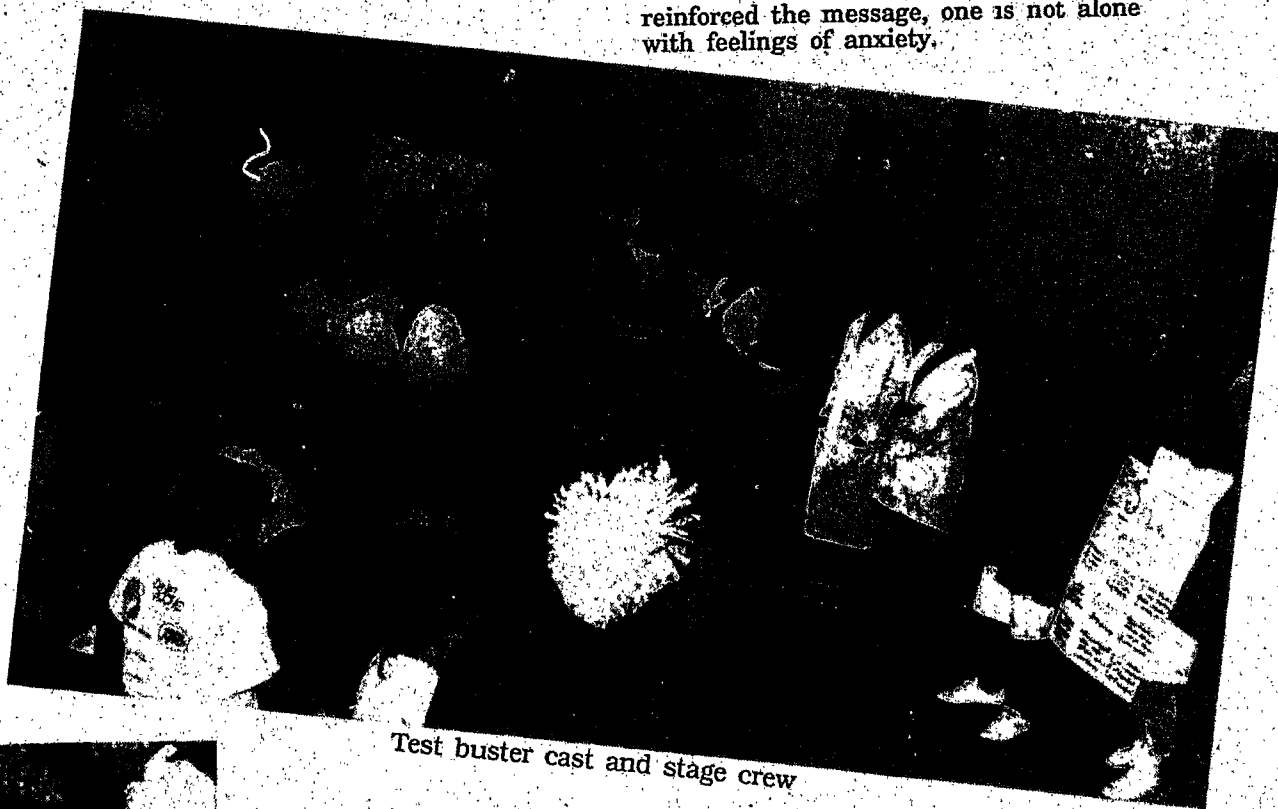

The student and test shook hands and again the cheerleaders moved forward to stimulate the masses.

The skit presented helpful suggestions for the students. It was entertaining and reinforced the message, one is not alone with feelings of anxiety.

Burton earns $10,000 grant for Hancock High

Special to the Echo
A teacher's idea for increasing student interest in science careers has attracted a $10,000 grant from Toyota Motor Sales (TMS), USA Inc., to implement a curriculum highlighting science in industry.

Suzette Burton, a teacher at Hancock High School, was one of only 34 middle and high school teachers across the country to receive a 1993 Tapestry grant, sponsored by Toyota and the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA).

Tapestry, Toyota's Appreciation Program for Excellence to Science Teachers Reaching Youth, is the largest grant program for secondary science teachers in the country. The program is designed to help teachers create and implement innovative science projects to enhance science education in their schools.

"This program allows science teachers to put into effect exciting and innovative projects that impact thousands of students who might otherwise never have had a positive science experience," said NSTA executive director Bill Aldridge.

Burton's project involves placing eight science teachers in eight different industries to work for one week during the summer. Those teachers then write a science curriculum with an "industry of the month" to be taught by teachers trained by the original eight.

Students will do industry-related lab work and make field trips to those industries. Representatives from those industries will visit classrooms. Students will learn about the chemical, plastics, energy, space and optics industries.

"This is a great opportunity for teachers and students to see what scientists actually do," said Burton. "We hope the project will increase student interest in careers in science. It will also give industry a chance to see what the students can do."

Burton has been teaching for 21 years, including 12 at Hancock High School. She teaches chemistry and comparative anatomy. She resides in Gulfport.

Thirty-four high school and middle school science teachers received nearly $380,000 in Tapestry grants this year. Awardees were selected from more than 700 grant applications and included 30 first-time recipients of grants of up to $10,000 and four second-year recipients of grants of $25,000 each.

Winning projects were submitted by individuals or teams of teachers and were judged by a panel of 18 expert science educators appointed by NSTA.

Accepting grant

Suzette Burton, center, accepts a Tapestry teaching grant for $10,000 from Wendell Mohling, left, president of the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA), and Douglas West, vice president of Toyota Motor Sales (TMS), USA Inc.

Teachers attend conference

Seven teachers from the Bay-Waveland School District recently attended the 71st Annual Conference of Mathematics in Seattle, Wash.

The four-day conference focused on new math developments, sharing of innovative classroom experiences and evaluating trends in teaching mathematics. The theme of this year's conference was "Tides of Change: Teachers at the Helm."

Those attending were Kelly Williams, Paul Dauro, Dorris Diamond, Celia Wilcox, Lynda Gilmore, Kerri Guichet and Betty Jones. A grant from the Dwight D. Eisenhower Fund and the Chapter I Program helped finance the trip.

Since 1920, the NCTM has been dedicated to the improvement of school mathematics instruction at all levels. Next year's conference will be held in Indianapolis, Ind.

Cichon named SSC senior of month

John Cichon has been named "Senior of the Month" for February at St. Stanislaus. The award, voted on by the faculty members, recognizes seniors who display sincerity, enthusiasm, family spirit, involvement, observance and responsibility.

Cichon is a varsity cheerleader, a member of Mu Alpha Theta, and the Spanish Honor Society, and the National Honor Society. Also he is an ex-officio member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Throughout high school he has achieved honor roll status and has been named Student of the Day, Pepsi Student of the Month, and has received the Academic Excellence Award while participating in sports.

Deen completes teaching program

Local teacher Mary Kay Deen of North Bay Elementary, has recently completed a year-long program called "The Wonder of Learning," a program for kindergarten through ninth grade teachers.

Funded in part by a grant from the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation, the program began last summer with a four-day retreat during which teachers experienced specific techniques for building classroom community, writing to learn subject material, teaching reading through literature, and planning holistic lessons.

Four overnight retreats during the school year helped teachers implement new strategies for teaching science, math, revision, higher order thinking, and for assessing student learning.

The culminating Guest Day Celebration featured local teachers who shared displays of student work with guests from throughout the state.

Chris Heaps

Heaps presents research paper

A record 30 Mississippi State University psychology majors presented research papers at the recent Southeastern Psychological Association Convention in Knoxville, Tenn.

Among the students who presented papers at the convention was Chris Heaps of Waveland: "The Nature and Use of Cliches Revisited," "Age and Integrative Complexity in Political Commentary," "The Complexity-Connectivity Controversy Continues."

Tasselin named HOBY delegate

Cedric Tasselin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tasselin of Diamondhead, has been selected as ambassador to the state Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar to be held in Jackson in May.

A superintendent's honor roll student, Tasselin is actively involved in Pass Christian High School's Student Council and Beta Club. He is a participant in Quiz Bowl and Demo Squad and is a member of the French Club, SADD, and Mu Alpha Theta (Math Club).

The HOBY seminar helps motivate, train and reward future leaders. Only one sophomore is eligible from each school.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is considering applying to the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant through the Public Facilities Category. The State of Mississippi has been awarded a 1993 allocation of $36,097,00 which will be made available to cities and counties on a competitive basis to undertake eligible community development activities. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

- 1.] To benefit low and moderate income persons; or
- 2.] To aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
- 3.] To meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a threat to the health and welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

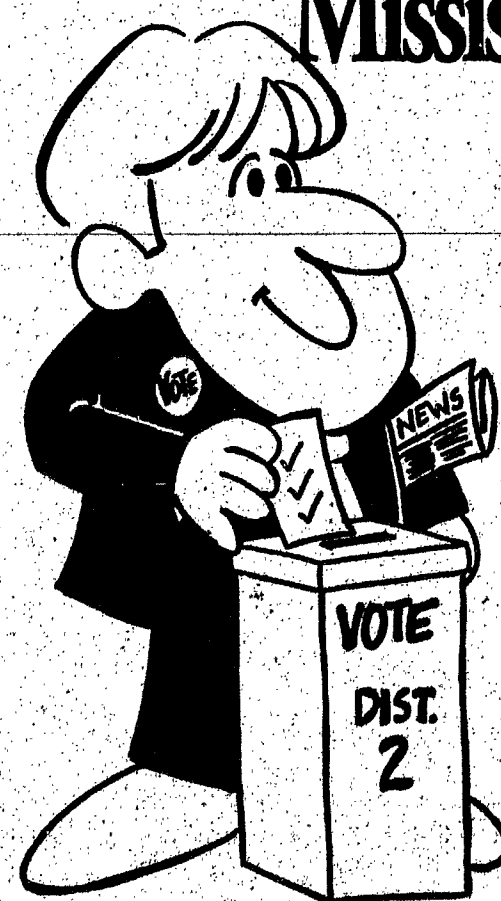

More specific details regarding eligible activities and program requirements, as well as the proposed public facilities project, will be provided at a public hearing which will be held at the Waveland Civic Center/County Complex located at 3068 Longfellow Road in Waveland on Tuesday, April 27, 1993 at 10:00 a.m. The purpose of this hearing will be to obtain citizen input into the development of a CDBG application to provide sewer collection improvements to County residents.
